Storm Damage Widespread Over Four States

CLASH AT PEKING IS ANTICIPATED AT ANY MOMENT

Northern and Southern Forces Aligning To Fight For Ancient City

JAPAN TO SEND MORE TROOPS TO WAR AREA

Marshal Chang Warned By Japan No Fighting To Be Allowed In Manchuria

TOKIO, May 16 (AP)—A clash between northern and southern (nationalist) forces, who are theatening Tientsin and Pekin, was believed to be imminent.

A dispatch from Pekin to Rengo, a Japanese news agency, said 2700 members of the families of northern officers and officials had been sent to Mukden, Manchuria. Most of them were women and children. This was taken to indicate that the northerners believed the battle might decide the fate of Pekin.

The Japanese cabinet at a special meeting today decided to send more troops to China. The third division from Nagoya, which at present is moving towards Shantung, may be partly diverted toward the Manchurian border. More troops, therefore, were believed to be necessary to protect Shantung, where Japanese and Chinese clashed recently.

It was generally indicated that the Japanese would not permit fighting in Manchuria. It was understood that Marshal Chang Tso-lin, northern dictator, had been so warned.

There were rumors that Japan unofficially advised Chang to return to Mukden before hostilities broke out at Pekin or Tientsin for thereafter any attempt on his part to seek refuge in Manchuria might not be permitted. There have been various advices that Chang had left or was about to leave Pekin.

LONDON, May 16.—The British government has no intention to offer any opposition to the advance of the Chinese nationalist armies on Pekin, Godfrey Locker-Lampson, under-secretary for foreign affairs, told the house of commons today.

He said the government's only care was to see that these troops did not enter the legation quarters.

Says Start Should Be Made Easier For Young People

SAN ANTONIO, May 16, (AP)—With young people avoiding matrimony because it costs too much, every real estate man in the country faces a challenge which he should give his life, if necessary, to meet, W. A. Thomas of Dallas, president of the Texas Association of Real Estate Boards said today in opening the annual convention of the organization here.

"The time has come when every realtor must look for a remedy for conditions which are threatening the future of American homes, and the solution is to make it easy for young people to get a start in life," Thomas said.

"Deliver me from a world of old maids and old bachelors, such as might come if we do not do our great part in making it easier for young people to get married and start on the real journey of life."

WASHINGTON, May 16, (AP)—The federal reserve board announced today that the Philadelphia Federal Reserve bank had established a rediscount rate of 4½ per cent effective tomorrow.

Cobwebs as Cure After Stabbing is Cause of Reversal

AUSTIN, May 16, (AP)—Rosetta Davis Carney, negress, got another chance Wednesday to beat the four year murder sentence assessed her in Robertson county for the fatal stabbing of Leslie Samuels when the court of criminal appeals found that her victim's wounds were stuffed with cobwebs and decided that treatment and not the knife might have caused death.

Commenting on that possibility the court reversed and remanded the case, holding among other things that the trial court did not raise the issue clearly enough in its charge.

The court's day was one of the "lightest" in months, there being not a life or death sentence among the cases passed on.

The state was refused rehearing in its attempt to sustain the felony chicken theft law recently struck down when the appeal of Dick Redding, Franklin county, was successful. The appellate court decided that the act, passed by the 40th legislature, was too indefinite in that it made fowl theft either a misdemeanor or a felony.

BAPTISTS RE-NAME TRUETT PRESIDENT

Declares In Message That Country Without Strong Leaders Is Doomed

CHATTANOOGA, May 16, (AP)—Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas was unanimously re-elected president of the Southern Baptist Convention at the opening session today. He was nominated by Dr. F. C. McConnell of Atlanta.

In his message immediately preceding his election, Dr. Truett declared that "Our task is more serious than ever before," and while he said he had no formal message on policies and plans, he asserted that any country "whose leaders are not strong men" is doomed.

He told the convention that a spirit of discord in the "present hour of crisis" would be an incomparable tragedy and pleaded for harmony and co-operation.

"In this hour, a great revival of religious fervor is far more important than proserity, statecraft or diplomacy. Unbelief and materialism have invaded our nation and we can conquer their direful consequences only if we work as one."

SINCLAIR RE-ELECTED TO BOARD OF HIS FIRM

NEW YORK, May 16, (AP)—Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the board of Sinclair consolidated oil company today was re-elected a director at the annual meeting of stockholders.

Reports had been current in Wall street for several weeks that control of the company had been acquired in the open market by outside interests, and that Mr. Sinclair's re-election would be opposed because of developbents in U. S. Senate investigation of oil reserves, but nothing of this nature arose at the meeting. Mr. Sinclair's vote, however, was not as large as that for other directors, all of whom were re-elected. The vote cast for Mr. Sinclair represented 2,752,005 shares, while votes for other directors were 2,755,648 shares each.

Refining runs in the first four months this year increased 16 per cent to 10,548,000 barrels, Mr. Sinclair reported. Gasoline production gained 16.65 per cent to 351,216,000 gallons and gasoline sales increased 24 per cent to 251,757,000 gallons compared with the same first four months of 1927.

ITALIA HEADING OVER POLAR SEA FOR LENIN LAND

Radio Message Received From Dirigible By Supply Ship At Spitzbergen

AIRSHIP TO LOWER MEN FOR EXPLORING TERRAIN

Italian Fliers Expected To Return To Base Before Friday From The Arctic

KING'S BAY, Spitzbergen, May 16, (AP)—The dirigible Italia had left the bleak shores of Franz Josef's Land behind it late today and was headed across the polar sea to little known Lenin Land.

At noon General Umberto Nobile reported by radio to his supply ship Citta de Milano, in the harbor here, that his position was longitude 70-40 east and latitude 82-40 north.

At the time it was said there wsa little adverse wind and little difficulty was expected in making Lenin Land before midnight.

The sea beneath was a vast ice-covered expanse, the brief radio message said, with little fog, and visibility good for 100 kilometers.

At Lenin Land which, roughly speaking, is 30 degrees east of the last given position of the Italia, and just north of Calmyr peninsula, the northernmost point of Siberian mainland, it was planned to lower three men to the ground to conduct some explorations. An ice anchor will be used to moor the dirigible there temporarily.

Communication Steady

KING'S BAY, Spitzbergen, May 16.—A steady stream of radio signals today linked King's Bay with the dirigible Italia now cruising in lonely majesty over the mysterious polar regions long so inhospitable to man.

The Italia has been sending hourly wireless messages to her base ship ,the Citta Di Milano, at King's Bay, telling of observations made by the dirigible.

General Umberto Nobile sent a message early this morning that the Italia had experienced an hour and a half of fog and had to fly at a height of 150 meters in a 50 kilometer wind at a speed of from 30 to 40 kilometers.

At 7 o'clock this morning the Venezia flag was dropped over Tiplitz Bay in honor of Francho Querieni who followed the Cegni polar expediiton of 1909 and perished there.

At 8 o'clock, two-thirds of the flight had been made and the airship was then northeast of Franz Josef's sea. All aboard were well.

The Italia is expecetd to return to King's Bay before Friday. Her third trip will probably be to the so-called Crocker land northeast of Greenland, the same land which Peary and other explorers had expected to see.

CLAIMS VARY AS TO FACTION VOTES

Harmonists Claim Three Hundred; Love Names Larger Vote For His Group

AUSTIN, May 16 (AP)—Telegrams received by leaders of the "Harmony" Democratic faction from delegates to the State Democratic convention indicated here Wednesday that the Love "Constitutional" group has a minimum of 176 votes "sewed up;" the Smith faction a minimum of 126 and the Moody "Harmony" wing not less than 300 with the remainder of the approximately 818 still listening to persuasion. Love was believed actually to have a potential 200 or more.

DALLAS, May 16, (AP)—The Constitutional Democrats are assured of at least 430 votes in the state Democratic convention at Beaumont if all their delegates attend, State Senator Thomas B. Love said here today.

In at least 15 of the 18 congressional districts, Love said, "there is no chance of anything but anti-Al Smith delegates to be elected unless there is a union between the Al Smith delegates with enough anti-Al Smith delegates to control, and there will be no such union with any of our anti-Al Smith delegates."

Two congressional districts having Al Smith majorities are the ninth, or Dewitt-Fayette-Lavaca counties, and the fourteenth, or Bexar county districts, Mr. Love said.

DALLAS, May 16, (AP)—Allen Seale, sheriff of Dallas county and a veteran peace officer, died here today after a lengthy illness. Sheriff Seale was serving his first term at the time of his death. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

ARREST EXPECTED IN ABDUCTION

Scientist and Washington Banker Together In Police Gruel

WASHINGTON, May 16, (AP)—An arrest by Montgomery county, Md., police was said to be imminent today in connection with the attack a week ago on Leonard W. Kephart, 26-year old agriculture department agronomist, and the abduction in Kephart's car of E. Percival Wilson, Washington bank official.

Kephart, an expert in clover investigations, was attacked while driving through Soldiers Home grounds enroute to his department and was left unconscious in the road after being stripped of most of his clothes. Wilson later was abducted in Kephart's car, but frightened off his captors after being driven a mile from his home in nearby Chevy Chase, Md. Kephart lives in Takoma Park, Md.

The two men were brought together for the second time last night, this time in police station. They were questioned for more than two hours and Kephart required the assistance of several friends when he left the building. These escorts were indignant over the methods police used in questioning the scientist. Still suffering from brain concussion, he was taken to the home of a friend in Virginia for a rest.

Wilson was asked, in Kephart's presence, if he could identify his abductor . He said he wore a gray cap and overcoat and appeared to be a young man. This was the same description he gave the night he was spirited away at the point of a pistol and was told by his abductor that the experience was "going to be something new."

The watch, cap and other wearing apparel found in a shallow lake of Solder Home grounds two days ago were identified by Kephart as articles he wore the night of the attack. He denied ownership of a jar of brown cream found in his automobile after the Wilson incident.

Corsicana Honors Former Citizen Who Heads TP&L

CORSICANA, May 16. (AP)—The boy who 27 years ago forsook the farm when the boll weevils destroyed his cotton crop and became a post hole digger here for the electric light company came home last night to a rousing greeting by the friends "who knew him when."

Corsicana poured out its citizens and its oratory in a brilliant reception at the country club for John W. Carpenter, president of the Texas Power and Light Company.

F. N. Drane, the retired former head of the Corsicana Electric Company, told of the virtues inherent in young Carpenter and held up his path of progress as a brilliant example for a new generation, some members of which, he said, are prone to shirk and "take it easy."

It was Mr. Carpenter himself who told the gathering of his start in the electrical world. He was ready to ship his mules to Oklahoma and help in the harvest fields, he said, when Mr. Drane hired him. From that start in 1901 his progress to head of one of the nation's greatest utilities has been steady.

C. L. Jester, president of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce, was toastmaster and introduced numerous civic and industrial leaders who lauded Mr. Carpenter.

No effort was made to commemorate an anniversary when the "homecoming" plans were laid, but Mr. Carpenter remarked that coincidence had set the reseption for exactly ten years after he left Corsicana.

AD VALOREM TAX RATE TO BE CUT

AUSTIN, May 16, (AP)—The state ad valorem tax rate will be reduced from 25 cents to 18 cents when the automatic tax board meets in June, Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher, member, said Wednesday.

Hatcher added that Governor Moody had authorized him to say that he (the governor), would join in making such a reduction "if the same was warranted."

State Comptroller S. H. Terrell Tuesday predicted a cut and advocated a constitutional amendment to limit the rate to 20 cents. Hatcher disagreed Wednesday with that recommendation.

AUSTIN, Texas, May 16. (AP)—Bail of $5,000 was granted by the court of criminal appeals Wednesday to J. H. SMITH NEARING REQUIREMENTS FOR NOMINATION

Of More Than Six Hundred Votes Claimed By Smith Good Number Disputed

HOOVER LACKS LESS THAN HUNDRED OF GOAL

Alabama's Republican Delegation Brought Into Fold Squarely Behind Hoover

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 16, (AP)—Herbert Hoover today won 15 more delegates when the Alabama state Republican convention instructed its delegations to the Kansas City convention to vote solidly for him.

The state convention today chose four delegates at large and instructed the 11 other delegates from the state's ten districts to stand squarely behind Hoover.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Governor Smith's total of instructed, pledged and claimed delegates to the Houston convention today was over the 600 mark—603½ to be exact—as a result of primaries and conventions in three states yesterday. A total of 733½ delegates votes, or two-thirds of the 1,100 in the convention, is necessary to nominate. At least 79½ of the Smith block are disputed by his opponents.

Secretary Hoover's delegxate total had grown to 467, of which 184 are contested. A total of 545, or a majority of the 1,089 sent to the Republican convention, is necessary to put the candidate over.

The two leading candidates for the presidential nomination of their respective parties picked up their largest gains yesterday in the New Jersey primaries, Smith bagging the entire Democratic slate of 28, while Hoover won 25 of the 31 Republican delegates. The remaining six were pledged to President Coolidge with Hoover as second choice.

The cabinet officer's total of 467 does not include Maryland's 19 which are yet to be selected but which will be put in the Hoover column by virtue of the recent preference vote in that state.

Two other Republican conventions held yesterday—in Wyoming and Montana—selected uninstructed delegations to Kansas City. Wyoming appointed nine and Montana eleven. It appeared to observers that the latter block would be split betwen Lowden and Hoover in the national convention.

Besides the 28 in New Jersey, Smith roped in 16 more delegates with the holding of conventions in Vermont and Montana, each state giving him eight. Should it appear that Smith might not win the nomination, the Montana delegation, under instructions given it yesterday, will seek to have Senator Walsh of that state, reconsider his withdrawal as a candidate so they can support him

Walsh stopped all efforts in his behalf after the recent California primaries which, he said, showed the futility of further contesting with Governor Smith, who won handily in that race against both Walsh and Senator Reed of Missouri. The Montana senator will be a delegate to the Houston convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 16, (AP)—The crew of the Bremen after the flight from St. Louis in the sister ship F-13, decided to remain in Indianapolis over night and depart for Detroit at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Poor visibility was given as the reason for not continuing the flight to Michigan today.

DELVE DEEPLY INTO FUNDS OF SMITH-HOOVER

Negro Committeemen Are Furnished Money In The South For Herbert Hoover

WASHINGTON, May 16, (AP)—Going into the campaigns of Herbert Hoover and Alfred E. Smith, the senate investigating committee was told today that Rush Holland, working for Hoover in the South, had expended approximately $10,000, and that the heaviest financial backers of the New York governor were donating to his fund out of "love and affection."

Holland testified that he had been active for Hoover in the Southern states, and his outlay to political workers included $2,000 to Perry Howard, negro Republican national committeeman for Mississippi, who also was in the field for the commerce secretary. Ben W. Davis, negro committeeman for Georgia, had been furnished $2,000 to carry on the campaign in that state. Oliver D. Street, Alabama committeeman, had been given $1,000; the Florida Protective Tariff association got $2,500, and Glenn B. Skipper, vice chairman of the Florida state central committee received $500.

William G. Kenny, New York contractor, told the committee he had contributed $70,000 to the Smith fund and was ready to give more when it was necessary. He expected no favors, declaring he was a life long friend of the governor. He had held New York city contracts, but his business did not bring him into contact with the New York public service commission.

CHAPLIN'S LATEST COMES NEXT WEEK

Comedian's Newest Film Booked Three Days Beginning Monday at Grand

Charlie Chaplin in "The Circus"! Peanuts, sawdust, pink lemonade, clowns, tigers, elephants, roaring lions, acrobats, wire-walkers, and Charlie Chaplin in his brand new comedy will all be at the Grand theatre next Monday, opening a three day run. Written, directed and produced by Charlie Chaplin, "The Circus" was two years in the making and it is the first Chaplin comedy since "The Gold Rush."

Charlie plays a wandering lad who is mixed up in a series of hilarious adventures, chases, arguments and evations that land him in "The Circus", as a very fine fellow. Merna Kennedy, with red hair and just five feet, two, with eyes of blue, is his leading lady; she makes her screen debut in the role. Others in the cast are Harry Crocker, Henry Bergman, Betty Morrissey and Allan Garcia.

According to officials of United Artists Corporation, which released the new Chaplin comedy, "The Circus" presents the Chaplin of old, the Chaplin of "Shoulder Arms," "Pay Day"' and "The Pilgrim,"—the thumping, bumping little man with the trick derby and cane, the wriggling moustache and the feet almighty. Chaplin himself announced during production of "The Circus," which was made at his own studio in Hollywood, that his new picture would be "a low brow comedy for high brows."

Billie Dove Plays In Film at Plaza

Billie Dove, who, with Gilbert Roland and Noah Beery, appears in "The Love Mart," which is now showing at the Plaza theater, is one of the most versatile and charming girls on the screen. In this George Fitzmaurice production for First National Pictures, she enacts the role of an aristocratic French girl who is wrongly accused of having mixed blood and sold as a slave in the public mart of New Orleans, as it existed more than a hundred years ago.

"The Love Mart" is a romantic story of the early years of the Nation, when slave-running was at its height and pirates from the Gulf infested the borders and waterways of the Southern states.

Billie Dove has many romantic love scenes and emotional moments; while Roland, in the masculine lead; Armand Kaliz, as a Creole fashion-plate; and others, indulge in the gentle art of fencing with brilliancy and prowess. There is also some exciting broadsword play with slave-running pirates in the early sequences.

FRENCH GIRL CADDIES DON'T OFFER ADVICE

PARIS (AP)—French caddies are a different breed from those found on the golf courses of Great Britain and America.

About half of them are girls and most of them never speak a word to the player whose clubs they carry, unless they are first spoken to.

It is rare to find a French caddie who will offer advice on what club should be used and few of them ever reveal the anguish or disgust so evident on a Scottish caddie's countenance at the poor shots of a duffer. Sometimes, however, when they think a player has made a fine shot, they tell him so.

As in America, most of the caddies are youngsters. Few old men carry clubs as a regular occupation, as in England and on the great seaside course of Scotland. In some of the French ports, such as Saint Jean de Luz and Dinard, fishermen go to the golf course in the off season to pick up a few franks keeping their mariners' eyes on some land-lubber's golf ball.

HORSE INS'T GONE YET; HE IS NEEDED FOR WAR

PARIS, (AP)—The time when machines will supersede the horse in the army has not yet come.

Experience gained at the last French army manoeuvres shows that the horse must remain for the present the principal means of transport for both men and arms, although, in the future, cavalry is destined to become a mixed force.

With this lesson in mind the army committee of the chamber of deputies, in its report on the military effectives bill, urged that great caution should be used in motorizing the cavalry. It approved, however, the abolition of 20 regiments of cavalry, with 24 regiments of infantry and 20 batteries of artillery.

WOULD MAKE COTTON SALE ON BASIS OF NET WEIGHT

WASHINGTON, May 16, (AP)—A plea to make cotton a "gentleman rather than an outcast," in the merchandising market was voiced to the senate agriculture committee today by Senator Ransdell, Democrat, Louisiana, asking support of his bill requiring sale of cotton by net weight. He wanted cotton "dressed up" in cotton coverings and "treated as a gentleman."

Ransdell's bill would require that a standard square bale of cotton hereafter should weigh 500 pounds exclusive of bagging and ties with which it is covered.

SHAWNEE, Okla., May 16, (AP)—The body of Betty Jeane Ford, 22 months old, was found today in the North Canadian river near the spot where Mrs. Lorene Ford, her mother, said she saw one of a party of four men throw an object in the stream last Friday.

Mrs. Ford, a 20 year old divorcee, said she and her little daughter had been abducted by the four men, and that she had seen what she believed was the child thrown in the river after she had been beaten and ejected from the men's automobile. She was found near the stream in a fainting condition.

Douglas Ford, divorced husband of the young woman, was released after he had been held several days for questioning by Pottawatomie county officers.

RURAL CLUBS TO PLACE EXHIBITS IN LAMAR FAIR

Home Demonstration Clubs Expected to Have Excellent Displays of Work

Miss Lida Cooper, home demonstration agent for Lamar county, urges all rural women's clubs to make early preparation for the exhibits which they are expected to enter this year at Lamar fair, scheduled early in September. Several excellent club entries last fall formed an important and interesting group in the agricultural building.

Every woman's club in the county, she says, should have an excellent display, and care should be taken to have every item entered and to have each one meet the requirements. Otherfise, it can not rate a satisfactory grading.

Nothing is listed in the required items outside the regular program of work carried out in the home demonstration clubs. Canned fruits and vegetables, jellies and relishes are listed under foods, pillow cases, braided rugs, and table linen for household items and garments for adults and children as clothing, and these, with the secretary's record book form the full list.

The items as required are listed in detail:

1. 5 qts. canned fruits and vegetables (square containers.)
2. 3 qts. preserves or sweet pickles (different varieties).
3. 3 qts. sour pickle and relishes.
4. 4 varieties of jelly (uniform containers).
5. Braided rug.
6. Pair pillow cases.
7. Tablecloth and napkins or luncheloth and napkins.
8. Wash dress (using set in sleeves, set in pockets or bound button holes).
9. Boy's cotton suit (under six years of age).
10. Girl's dress with bloomers (under six years of age).
11. Secretary's record book.

The committee's action gives the bill a preferential place in the legislative calendar and there are indications that house leaders probably will give the bill the right of way on the floor either late this week or on Tuesday of next week.

Easy HOUSEKEEPING

By MRS. MEG MACGREGOR, Director of Household Science

"Stains never worry me now"

This is the cheerful beginning of a letter I have just received from a woman in Cleveland. And it is true that stains need never worry any woman who knows when and how to use Clorox. For Clorox is "bottled magic."

Common stains

For instance: Nearly every day in every family someone spills tea, coffee, chocolate, or wine. Take the stains out with Clorox in correct solution.

And then ink spots—out they come—jiffy quick! Another ugliness that sometimes seems absolutely fatal is the stain caused by medicines—argyrol, iodine, mercurochrome and others. Fruit stains, too, are easily disposed of. All these can be safely and quickly treated with Clorox. You have only to follow the directions carefully.

Mildew and scorch disappear easily too

Who hasn't carefully rolled up a cherished doilie, lunch cloth, or white cotton or linen blouse—only to let it mildew? And who hasn't taken special pains with some fine piece of linen, only to scorch it? But these accidents need not be fatal! For mildew—soak in the proper solution of Clorox for ten minutes and hang in the sunlight until all discolorations vanish. For scorched spots the method is easy, too. The label shows you how. You'll say it's nothing short of magic and it is!

Send for my Free Chart

If you have a difficult problem of cleaning or disinfecting won't you write to me about it? Perhaps I can help you. I shall be glad to answer your letter and send to you, free of charge, my "Easy Housekeeping Chart" to hang in your kitchen.

THE WORLD IS OURS

IT'S a smaller world every day. Events at great distances are brought so close to us by the radio,, telephoto, news reel, and airplane as to make them as much of "local interest" as does a spectacular event in a neighboring community which we only read about. All newspapers, radio stations and news reel editors recognize a rapidly increasing demand for news of foreign and distant events that a few years ago could command only small attention in comparison with "local happenings."

Of course, developments of local concern, will always be of greater appeal than those in far off places, but that the scope of the world interest is broadening greatly is one of the outstanding tendencies of this era.

Through news and motion pictures we follow Lindbergh through every step of his spectacular journey in his Spirit of St. Louis. By wireless transmission of pictures we "see" the Bremen flyers marooned in their Labrador Island. All agencies are forced to keep increasingly on the alert for pictures of important events and thousands of dollars are spent just to obtain one picture from an isolated spot.

An outstanding instance of this work was seen in Paris this week. Flying in an airplane a news reel cameraman caught a complete picture of Frank Lockhart dashed to his death, speeding along a Florida beach at more than 200 miles an hour. Th eauto was catapulted into the air and the driver thrown to the beach to his death. A few years ago such a picture would have been heralded as the most remarkable. Here, there was no special attention drawn to this routine portion of the usual news picture at a local theatre. This alone shows that it has become commonplace for us to visualize extraordinary happenings.

We are only beginning the most interesting era of history and it will pay us—as well as tax our time—to keep up with all that is going on. But it will be worth it.

PROSPERITY—TWO SIDES

W. G. LEE, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, tells the triennial convention of that organization that if the brotherhood ever is wrecked it will be because it adopts "some of the wild ideas put out by certain so-called 'saviors of the working class.'"

Then he adds:

"Nowhere in the world are wages and working conditions so favorable as in our own country. Nowhere are working men so independent and well protected."

Right there Mr. Lee puts his finger on the real reason for the great conservatism of this country in political and economic matters. The people are prosperous. Being prosperous, they are contented. Being contented, they have no use for radical cure-all theories.

It's a very nice state of affairs, when you stop to think about it. After the war there was a great deal of talk about the "red menace" and some people made spectacles of themselves by their efforts to get at and crush the supposed "rising tide of radicalism." But it was all wasted effort, and most people now are ready to admit it. So long as the average worker can live in comfort and enjoy luxuries such as his father never imagined all the Russian agitators in the world won't budge him.

Yes, it's very comfortable indeed. But there is another side to it.

Suppose, just once, that there should come an era of genuine depression—depression similar to the panics of the old days, more far-reaching and severe than anything the last decade has seen. Suppose that factories should shut down and men everywhere should be thrown out of employment.

It seems fair to assume that the American working man would display an aptitude for a radicalism that would make some people shudder. The wage earner has grown used to the new order. He likes to be able to live decently, to educate his children, to ride in an auto, to own his own home, to enjoy the thousand little luxuries the new day has brought. Do you imagine he will ever stand for it if something happens to take these things away from him? Will he stay as contentedly conservative as he is now?

Not he. Don't think it. No longer does his creed call for a bare "living wage." He wants more; and he has heard men like Henry Ford tell him he is entitled to more. He will never give up what he has won.

Our prosperity and our conservatism have, thus, two angles. In rejoicing over the one, let us not forget the other.

A Pittsburgh woman who is beginning to take some interest in political affairs, has a friend who is running for office, says Fred Brinkerhoff in the Headlight. He is considered the leading candidate. "But it is too bad," his woman friend laments. "I'm afraid he has no show. There are so many candidates against him." Which shows how rapidly the women are learning the fundamentals of practical politics.—Kansas City Star.

Nature makes mistakes, but she never arranges the bloom of youth near the nose on one side and close to the ear on the other.—San Francisco Chronicle.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, May 16 —A move of immense interest to agriculture was taken the other day when a bill authorizing $200,000 for development of methods to recover potash for fertilizer from United States deposits was reported favorably by the committee on mines and mining.

Asserting that "the need for a cheap fertilizer is universally acknowledged" and that "almost all of the necessary elements of fertilizer for the enrichment of our depleted lands is shipped in from abroad," the report said "it is clearly a part of good business, good judgment, enlightened self-interest and security to pass this legislation."

IN 1926 congress authorized an appropriation of $100,000 annually for five years to determine the location, extent and mode of occurrence of potash deposits in the country. The investigatino revealed deposits thick enough to provide quantity production. The potash found is in the form of a hard salt known as polyhalite, which has a potash content when absolutely pure of 15.6 per cent. Pure polyhalite is soluble in water and is combined with salts which are either neutral or beneficial, requiring no treatement other than grinding or crushing to be used as direct fertilizer. Unfortunately, however, the polyhalite disclosed in the wells of New Mexico and Texas is not pure and it is necessary to devise some method cheaper than any now known in order to make such deposits commercially available.

BEFORE the world war approximately 99 per cent of the potash consumed in this country originated in Germany. During the war this supply was cut off and the United States engaged in a scramble to produce it commercially. The cessation of hostilities checked the development, however, for with the reimportation of foreign potash and consequent lower prices obtaining, domestic plants found it unprofitable to continue and their number dropped from 128 in 1918 to 11 in 1924. In 1926 only one of the potash manufacturing plants, the department of commerce says, had survived and that plant was running principally as a borax producing concern.

PRIVATE concerns have been experimenting with this problem for some time and work along this line is still being carried on, but as yet no process has been developed that would enable producers to supply adequately the demand for potash or to compete profitably with the foreign product. Soil and fertilizer experts believe, nevertheless, that there can be little doubt that such a chemical process will sooner or later be revealed, and they are looking forward to the passage of the bill, introduced by Representative Charles E. Winter of Wyoming, to provide the funds which will enable the trained specialists of the government to begin work on the problem. The investigations would be made jointly by the departments of agriculture and commerce.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

RACIAL BARRIERS

From the Indianapolis News:

AN automobile manufacturer, when asked "What is the solution of Europe's problem?" replied: "Millions of motor cars and millions of telephones to break down barriers of prejudice and misunderstanding."

He may have included telephones as an afterthought. It is extremely difficult to break down barriers of prejudice and misunderstanding when two persons who speak different languages try to hold a telephone conversation.

The motor car, however, can bring people of different nationalities face to face and if a common language springs up with sufficient scope to include petrol, gasoline, hot dogs, free air, quick tire service, tourists camps and other American terms it ought to go far in the direction of mutual understanding and good will.

We travel about in this country, going from coast to coast and from state to state, without thinking that anything important has happened as a boundary line is crossed. If a Hoosier had to stop at the Illinois state line, have his passports examined, submit to some one prying into his luggage, and then learn that his stay in Illinois must be limited and under police supervision, he might not be so happy after h egot over the state line, but he would have a clearer idea of conditions in Europe.

Europe has racial barriers as well as boundary lines and the lack of common speech breeds distrust, but the day may come in Europe, as it has in America, when the motor car will take the people of one country into another, when friendships will supplant suspicion and when amity will be the rule rather than the exception.

Continuation School Helps Find Field For Which Pupil Is Fitted

By George D. Strayer

NEW YORK, (AP)—American boys and girls should attend school until they are eighteen years old. If the necessity of financial support is paramount the school must provide continuation classes giving from four to eight hours a week of instruction in daylight in order that the working boy and girl may have a square deal.

The greatest single thing that education ever does for anybody is to give confidence and skill in order that success may be achieved in some particular field of endeavor.

In our old-fashioned school system, if a boy did not succeed in dealing with the abstractions he became discouraged and quit school. With the establishment of continuation schools we have recognized that it is a primary function of the school to discover what boys and girls can do best to give them that guidance which will send them in the direction of their greatest achievement.

Many boys and girls at work in the factory or shop come to the continuation school and there find an opportunity to learn in the shop, laboratory ,or other classrooms, those things that will help them to advancement in the field in which they are working. Still others find new interests and prepare for more important undertakings.

The continuation school renders a most important service in bringing boys and girls into contact with the fine arts. In literature, in drawing, and in music, there has opened up fields which may make possible the better use of leisure time. In other classes, in citizenship and in home making, the most fundamental duties of men and women are presented by means of discussions in which these young people acknowledge their responsibilities to the group.

Continuation schools are here to stay as a valuable part of our school system. We have done a fairly good job in preparing men to be doctors, lawyers and engineers. We are beginning to make adequate provision for those who are to achieve great things in industry, commerce and business.

A Plea for 'Shingle' Discipline

By Olive Roberts Batron

One of the utterances of Dr. John E. Briggs of Washington that delights me greatly is, "Thou shalt not say, ' Just can't do a thing with Willie,' in his presence. Let a beam come out of thine eye and cut a shingle therefrom and assert thyself."

I am not an advocate of corporal punishment as a general rule, because among certain parents to strike a child is the only kind of training they know.

A whipping to them is the moral cure-all just as castor-oil is the panacea for all physical ills. And usually for dozens of reasons, but chiefly because a child gets hardened to it, it is of no earthly good.

But there are times, brethren, there are times!

Frankly, with all of our child training ideals, psychology clinics, child patholists, and high-powered normal schools, it looks as though each generation of children turned out by American parents is more and more "spoiled."

It is as puzzling as it is distressing. Eventually most of them turn out to be first class men and women, because their own common sense (and let us give a little credit to ancestral stock) comes to their rescue.

But during that period of adolescence between 5 and 20, there is something wrong. We know all about this new freedom and the new tenets of the younger generation. That's not news. We know that the word obedience is almost obsolete.

But why should this new freedom be a selfish, self-willed, extravagant, and lazy freedom? Truly, on account of the "beam," as Dr. Briggs calls it, in the parents' eyes. A good spanking once in a while might make Willie at least the equal of Gunga Din.

Change Your Things After Getting Wet

This is the time of year when it rains on occasion. You are bound to get wet once in a while. Some folks worry every time this happens for efar they will take cold.

The same folks are afraid of fresh air and especially currents o fair. They wear skull-caps and night-caps. They are scared if they feel a draft.

They are afraid of wet feet. They think they must begin to snuffle and sneeze after the least exposure. I sometimes think this speedy effect is psychic, but it exists and must be considered.

Getting wet is a common experience. I do not approve of going out with the deliberate intention of getting wet, but clean water never hurt anybody. It makes no difference whether it is taken internally, or applied externally, either intentionally or inadvertently. No one need worry over a good wetting. There is nothing harmful about wet clothes. The danger comes from living in damp garments for hours, with consequent chilling of the body.

If you get wet, go on briskly with your work, or walk. So long as you are exercising, so long as your heart is doing its full duty, you are just as safe as you would be in the surf or lake.

Everybody knows it is unpleasant and unsafe to stay too long in the water. Likewise, if you are in wet clothes too long you get the same physical ill effects.

There must be proper reaction after such exposure, in order to ward off possible danger. Go home, rub yourself vigorously with a rough towel, clothe your body in dry garments, and you are just as safe and will be as invigorated as of you had had a dip in the surf at Atlantic City.

Make sure your hair is thoroughly dry and especially that your stockings are free from moisture. The extremities, for some reason or other, are more sensitive than the body.

Don't stay indoors because it rains. Put on your rubbers and sally forth in rain coat or under your umbrella. Let your skin rejoice in the moisture it will receive. It softens its texture and cleanses its pores.

In England and Scotland nobody pays the slightest attention to the weather. Shoes and clothing are made with reference to whatever may come.

Of course, you will not be foolish about it, and stay in your wet shoes and garments. Every business man and woman should have suitable clothing at the business place, so that proper change can be made. If you follow this rule you will rejoice in the experience of getting wet and will suffer no ill effects.

Which of These Men Do YOU Feel Like? —After Eating

ARE you one of those fortunate people who can partake of a hearty or even moderate meal without some after-feeling of distress or do you have to avoid certain foods because they disagree with you?

Do you have that hard, uncomfortable feeling in your stomach, or that miserable tired or sleepy feeling after eating?

Gordon's (named for its discoverer) stops fermentation (souring of food matter) in the stomach and bowels. It exercises an antiseptic effect, dissolves the excess acid, absorbs the gas that is present, and prevents more forming. It drives the poisons out. It soothes and heals the irritated or inflamed condition of the stomach—the delicate membrane lining—made raw by acid.

A spoonful of Gordon's after meals will bring quick relief in cases of indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, bloating, heartburn, excess acid, bad breath, sick headache, bowel troubles (constipation and diarrhea), and nervousness, when caused by faulty digestion.

Go to or phone your druggist for a bottle of Gordon's. Take a dose after each meal and before retiring. See how much better you will sleep and how refreshed and vigorous you are in the morning.

Gordon's is made in liquid form, put up in one size only. A large eight-ounce bottle, price $1.50 per bottle—less than 3 cents per dose.

MAYER TO ATTEND MUSIC CONVENTION

Paris Man is Official in National Music Merchants Association

Music as a big business and a vital factor in American home life will be points emphasized at the national convention of music merchants which is to be held in the Hotel Commodore, New York city, from June 4 to June 7, according to a statement yesterday by Henry P. Mayer of Henry P. Mayer Music House, in announcing that he planned to attend the sessions at which leaders of all industries, civic and professional life will join with music merchants in discussing the problems confronting them. Mr. Mayer is vice president of the National Association of Music Merchants.

"I believe," said Mr. Mayer, "that the music manufacturers, merchants and dealers of the United States have not, as a united body, appreciated the extent to which they can develop by promoting their business as other industries have promoted theirs to the point of great prosperity.

"I believe music is a big business. Just how big it is I expect to find out at the forthcoming June convention in New York city, at which such national leaders as Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, Fred W. Shibley, vice president of the Bankers Trust company at New York, F. E. Moskovics, president of the Stutz Motor company, Major Herbert H. Frost, vice president of the Radio Manufacturers association, Prof. John Erskine, noted author and musician, and Roxy of movie fame will address the meetings.

"President C. J. Roberts of the National Association of Music Merchants has declared that these men will give invaluable information on the manner in which big business is carried forward in other fields at the present time, and I endorse his statement that the members of this business will benefit by the discussions which will follow.

"There are evidences on every side that music lovers are being developed in all ranks of life throughout this country. Unless this were so, we would not have the present mammoth broadcasting programs, the great growth in school bands and orchestras, the instruction in the piano in public schools, the nationwide reaction to Music Week—which in five years has become a national institution—or the response to contests designed to bring out natural talent among the younger generation.

"The national convention in New York is the place for all dealers to go if they wish to get the ideas which will enable them to improve their business and do greater things for the advancement of music."

2. Approved insulation in adequate quantity.
3. Air circulation completely throughout interior.
4. Sanitary, accessible drainage.

PARIS ANNEXES ONLY FOUR HITS OFF TED LYONS

Ludwick Pitches Fair Game but Support Blows Up in the Seventh

TYLER, May 16.—Lyons held Paris to four hits today and the Tyler Trojans won their second straight game from Paris, 13 to 2. Dorman and Aslin collected three hits each for Tyler, while A. Mueller hit a homer. Ludwig pitched a fair game up to the seventh, erratic support giving the Trojans five runs on two hits in the third frame.

FIRST BOTTLE OF ORGATONE HELPS

M. H. Monroe Could See Change in Condition Before He Had Finished First Bottle.

"My stomach trouble is entirely gone and I could see a change before I finished my first bottle," said M. H. Monroe while talking to the Orgatone representative recently. "My food did not digest right after eating," continued Mr. Monroe. "My appetite was poor any way and the pain I suffered was enough to make any one afraid of eating. I was also bothered with a bad case of constipation. I had a pain across my back from kidney trouble and in fact I was in bad shape altogether. I had tried different remedies but nothing ever helped me much.

"I read about Orgatone in the papers and decided to try a bottle. My trouble with my stomach is entirely gone and I could see a change before I had finished my first bottle. I have a good appetite and can eat anything I please. There is no pain from kidney trouble and the constipation is completely relieved. I can sleep all night and am never bothered with nervousness. Orgatone is a wonderful medicine. I have sent several of my friends to buy Orgatone and they all think as much of it as I do."

Orgatone is sold in Paris exclusively by the Corner Drug Store by a special representative who is meeting the public daily.—Adv.

GOLF PAIRINGS ANNOUNCED FOR TILT THIS WEEK

Second Chicken Dinner Tournament Will Open Friday and Close Sunday

The second chicken dinner tournament of the season will be held at Paris Golf club Friday, Saturday and Sunday. At the dinner Tuesday night Tom M. Scott was chosen captain of the Chicken Wings and Webb Boswell captain of the Chicken Backs. The dinner will be held at the club Monday May 21, at 7:30 p. m. promptly.

It will be necessary for all who are going to hand in their names not later than Sunday night.

As each player tees off, he or she, is expected to pay the $1 entrance fee, which also pays for the dinner. The losing side pays and the adjustment of these fees can be arranged between the players. It will be much easier for each individual to do this, and hand in their names rather than leave this to the team captain.

A regular match will be played, three points to the hole.

There are a number of players whose names are not on this list. Those who wish to play should notify one of the captains, for arrangements of a match.

ALL STARS TO PLAY TULSA INDIANS

Exceptionally Strong Amateur Team To Be In Paris For Game Sunday

The Paris All Stars, who have been having quite a bit of success this season, will take on the strongest amateur aggregation they have ever tackled when they tie up with the Tulsa Indians at the local ball park Sunday afternoon.

The All Stars will be made up of the cream of the amateur talent in and around Paris, and will present a strong battle front. Among others who will be in the All Star line up will be Buck Buford, recently released by Bowman's Colts, the two Robinson boys, Dave and Dewey, and others who are well known.

The Tulsa Indians, purely an amateur organization, are making a tour of Oklahoma and are only coming to Paris because of the nearness of Paris to the Oklahoma line. The Indians have played seventeen games this season and still boast a winning percentage of 1000.

This game is being played for the reason that the professional club will be out of the city, and it should draw a good attendance, as there will be two real amateur ball clubs out there. The line up of the All Stars will be published later and the fans can rest assured that it will be a gang that will make the club from the Oklahoma metropolis get up and hustle.

NEW ORLEANS, May 16.—Less rain fell in the belt overnight and this together with somewhat better weekly crop reports by the government than expected, caused moderate selling of cotton today. The market did not get as much trade support on the decline as usual and cotton goods markets were rather slow, on the whole. The market however, retained a very steady undertone and plainly was in a position immediately to respond to new buying.

The government reports talked of somewhat better weather conditions, but also noted poor stands, the necessity of a great deal of replanting and made special mention of the lateness of the crop. Just as in the case with all reports from private sources, the government review had nothing to say about the growth of plants whereas, if this were the usual crop season, plants would be making rapid growth at this date from one end of the belt to the other.

During the day, there were few reports of rain in the belt and this made for additional selling. The barometer lines on the map were more settled, but the month of May brings quick changes in weather conditions and we still think that, since rains have set in the chances favor too much rather than too little moisture during the remainder of the month which justifies the stand that the market should be bought on every good reaction.

Fort Worth Livestock.

FORT WORTH, May 16, (AP)—quality was lacking in most classes of cattle Wednesday and trade held about steady with a little weakness in spots.

Slaughter yearlings and heifers of desirable quality in carlots were lacking in the receipts. Not enough on hand of any class for slaughter purposes to test the market.

More cows than usual were on hand. A short carload sold at $9.75, while other cars sold around $8 to $8.50; canner cows $4.50 to $5; cutters $5 to $5.75.

Uneven values prevailed in the calf division, sales steady to a quarter lower. Heavy calves $11 to $11.25.

Trading in hogs in the rail division was slow. Early top to an outside buyer $9.40, with packers bidding a little lower. Sales in the truck division weak to 10 cents lower. Truck top $9.10.

TOM MOORE CIGARS

STRICKEN SUDDENLY

Almost daily we hear of it—the story of some man, probably a friend, suddenly cut off in the midst of his usefulness, in the very prime of life. That's what high blood pressure and heart trouble will do—snap off life without warning. All due to our abnormal living habits which put too great a strain upon the vital organs, especially the liver.

The liver becoming weak and sluggish fails to cleanse the blood of the poisons formed in food waste. The whole system then becomes toxic, with stomach, kidneys, heart and blood vessels affected.

The liver, especially at middle life, needs a little help, and there's nothing better for this, as physicians today know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a great natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to health and vitality. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing ten drops of pure ox gall. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists, and one or two days' use will prove a revelation. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, ask for Dioxol.

Free Test Take this ad to the druggist named below and he will give you a free sample of Dioxol tablets. Try them yourself. See the splendid, quick results. One trial of Dioxol and you will want a full package!

COLTS TO RETURN HOME FRIDAY

Hugo Day To Be Observed When Twins Open Two-Day Series

Bowman's Colts, after a disastrous stay on foreign soil, will be back on the home lawn Friday and Saturday and will have as their special guests the Texarkana Twins. While the Twins have not been going any too well themselves they are playing good ball, with our old and time-tried friend, Sidney Hopkins starring as the Twin pitching ace.

Hopkins, to date, has won seven games, with only one reverse and that at the hands of the slugging Tyler Trojans. The Colts will present some new faces in their line up, and should begin to show winning form. The club has been shifted, both as to position and batting order by Manager Bowman in a desperate effort to strike a winning streak.

Vic Frazier, the ace of the Lone Star league, has been the only pitcher on the staff to hurl consistently good ball. Vic should not have lost a game this season, as at no time has he been hit hard. The other chunkers just simply can't get going, but it is expected that the club will soon take a brace and go to winning a few games.

The Colts have played in hard luck, but a tthe same time they haven't had a pitcher with the exception of Frazier, who could stop the enemy bats. That kind of stuff is bound to change, and Bowman is doing everything in his power to shake off the jinx that has been riding the club since the season opened.

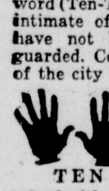
Friday has been named as Hugo day at the ball park, and the visitors of Hugo will be special guests of the local management. This movement was inaugurated last season and proved successful, hence it will be observed again this season.

The Colts will be home for only two games, Friday and Saturday, then going home with the Twins for a pair, before coming home for a stay of nine days.

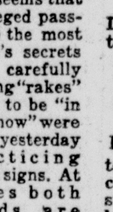
Queer Sign Language Being Learned by Pledges of "Club"

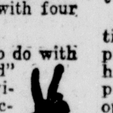
Any Man Who Needs a Drink Can Get It by Giving High Signs at Proper Time and Place, Says Doctor Organizer of Social Club Here

The great mystery seems to be unfolding. It now seems that in addition to the alleged password (Ten-Two-Four) the most intimate of the club's secrets have not been too carefully guarded. Certain young "rakes" of the city who seem to be "in the know" were seen yesterday practicing weird signs. At times both hands are raised with the thumbs at right angles and pressed against the ears; the four fingers of both hands then being wiggled vigorously. At other times a single hand with two fingers upraised is the sign. Still another gesture is one hand with four fingers raised.



Whether this has to do with the alleged "pass-word" is not known, but evidently there is a connection, since the number of fingers raised at various times coincides with the numbers 10, 2 and 4.





It was freely admitted by D. I. Spenser, self-confessed lieutenant of the "Prominent Doctor" organizer that these indeed are the signs of the club and that used at the proper time and place will qualify the signaler to purchase a drink. Spenser contends that the club will not suffer because the secret signs have leaked out, inasmuch as it will require a badge and membership card for admittance to the club. Bona-fide members will merely use the signs as a signal of distress and as a matter of social recognition between members.

Spenser also intimated that the prominent Doctor himself may be present for the opening of the club and referred to it as a "lid lifting."—Advertisement.

Piles Are Absorbed Never to Return

This New Treatment Gives Absolute Relief from All Pain and Suffering. Guranteed.

Perhaps the most amazing discovery of recent years in the field of medicine is the discovery that Piles or Hemorrhoids can now be successfully treated and cured at home by a wonderful substance to which the name MOAVA has been given.

For years it had been known that many so called remedies were simply palliatives and gave only temporary relief, while surgical operations, often adopted as a last resource, did not remove the cause, but simply the formation.

The discoverers of MOAVA, justly proud of their amazing discovery, desire all sufferers to know that they do not want a cent of anyone's money unless MOAVA, which comes in the form of suppositories, decisively conquers even in the worst cases, and they have instructed druggists all over the country to guarantee it in every case of blind, bleeding or protruding piles.

Each little suppository, containing a certain definite amount of MOAVA, reaches the exact place where by its soothing, healing action it first allays all inflammation, congestion and soreness; then being in direct contact with all ulcers and piles, causes them to be absorbed. In two or three days at most, even in cases of profuse bleeding, that have resisted all known treatments, really wonderful results have been accomplished. Two sizes—50c and $1.00. Palace Drug Store (mail orders filled) will be glad to supply you.—Adv.

Chapter 4.

Virginia continued to stare at Nathaniel as though he had suddenly changed to an entirely different person right before her sight. Jealousy was blazing in his eyes and turning his lips to stone. It frightened Virginia to see him so aroused.

"Mr. Dean only said what I already knew was right," she faltered.

"Then you are going to live with him?" Nathaniel asked grimly.

"Don't be so hard, Niel."

"Hard! If I dared be as hard as I feel I'd find Dean and wring his confounded neck. What right has he to interfere between us?"

"He's my oldest friend and he promised father . . ." Virginia's words broke off in a tear-wet handkerchief.

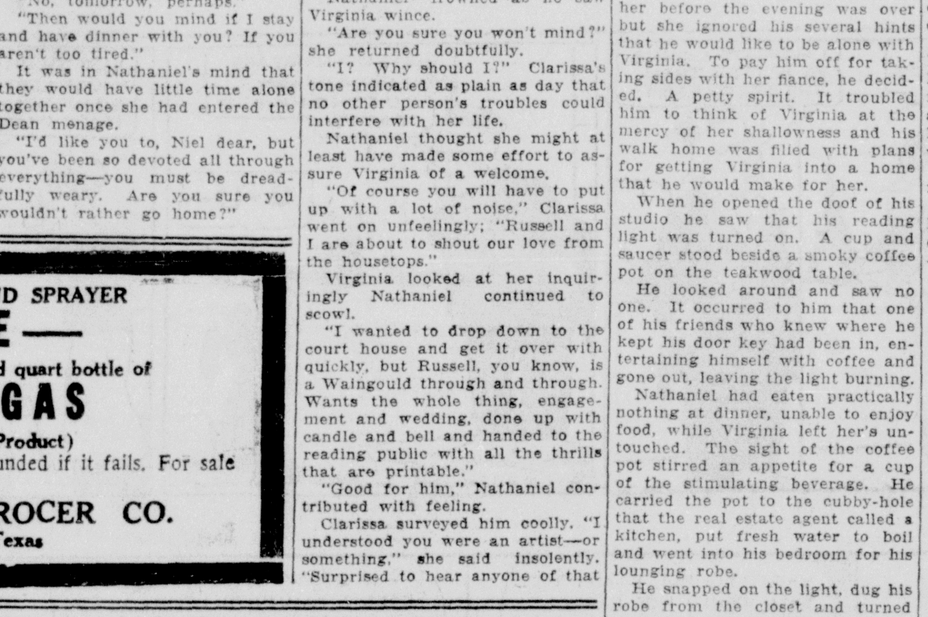
Nathaniel was instantly ashamed of having hurt her.

"Forgive me," he begged; "I'm sorry I lost my temper, but you don't know how much I hate to think of you living in that man's home, seeing him every day, being where he can see you, even touch you."

"Niel, you're not jealous, are you?" The idea seemed to Virginia so unlikely that she smiled over it. "Surely that can't be what you were so wild about just now?"

"Call it jealousy if you like; Nathaniel said a trifle sulkily; "but I don't trust him, and when he gets near you I begin to creep all over."

"I can't think of anything more absurd than for you to be jealous of Uncle Frederick," Virginia replied; then more seriously, "but ,of course, you aren't. I think you're blaming him for influencing me more than he did, Niel. That isn't fair. It's very kind of him and Clarissa to want me with them at this time."



Chiri appeared, took the receiver off the hook and greeted the caller with a lazy "hello."

"I might think so if I didn't believe that it will make 'Uncle Frederick' happier than it will you."

"I am not expecting to be happy, Niel," she reminded him quietly, and Nathaniel did not have the heart to offer further objections to the plan.

"When are you going there?" he asked dejectedly.

"I'd like to go at once. There are too many memories in these rooms, Niel."

"Not today?"

"No, tomorrow, perhaps."

"Then would you mind if I stay and have dinner with you? If you aren't too tired."

It was in Nathaniel's mind that they would have little time alone together once she had entered the Dean menage.

"I'd like you to, Niel dear, but you've been so devoted all through everything—you must be dreadfully weary. Are you sure you wouldn't rather go home?"

Nathaniel was sure.

They were not to have an uninterrupted evening, however. All day Virginia had been turning away condoling friends, but before the dinner hour Clarissa arrived and insisted upon staying.

"Dad tells me you've promised to berth at our place until the clouds blow over," she chirped to Virginia, palpably seeking to create an air of cheerfulness, however false. Grief was not sacred to Clarissa.

Nathaniel frowned as he saw Virginia wince.

"Are you sure you won't mind?" she returned doubtfully.

"I? Why should I?" Clarissa's tone indicated as plain as day that no other person's troubles could interfere with her life.

Nathaniel thought she might at least have made some effort to assure Virginia of a welcome.

"Of course you will have to put up with a lot of noise," Clarissa went on unfeelingly; "Russell and I are about to shout our love from the housetops."

Virginia looked at her inquiringly Nathaniel continued to scowl.

"I wanted to drop down to the court house and get it over with quickly, but Russell, you know, is a Waingould through and through. Wants the whole thing, engagement and wedding, done up with candle and bell and handed to the reading public with all the thrills that are printable."

"Good for him," Nathaniel contributed with feeling.

Clarissa surveyed him coolly. "I understood you were an artist—or something," she said insolently. "Surprised to hear anyone of that sort admitting a taste for conventionality."

"I admire his sticking to his guns," Nathaniel retorted.

Clarissa looked from him to Virginia and smiled knowingly!. But she said nothing. She had been exposed to politeness during her bringing up, and there were times when the contact bore fruit.

"Oh, naturally you would agree with him, being a male yourself," she laughed, and began to talk of something else.

Nathaniel was utterly weary of her before the evening was over but she ignored his several hints that he would like to be alone with Virginia. To pay him off for taking sides with her fiance, he decided. A petty spirit. It troubled him to think of Virginia at the mercy of her shallowness and his walk home was filled with plans for getting Virginia into a home that he would make for her.

When he opened the doof of his studio he saw that his reading light was turned on. A cup and saucer stood beside a smoky coffee pot on the teakwood table.

He looked around and saw no one. It occurred to him that one of his friends who knew where he kept his door key had been in, entertaining himself with coffee and gone out, leaving the light burning.

Nathaniel had eaten practically nothing at dinner, unable to enjoy food, while Virginia left her's untouched. The sight of the coffee pot stirred an appetite for a cup of the stimulating beverage. He carried the pot to the cubby-hole that the real estate agent called a kitchen, put fresh water to boil and went into his bedroom for his lounging robe.

He snapped on the light, dug his robe from the closet and turned around to remove his coat. Then, for the first time, he saw that his visitor had not departed.

"I might have known it was you," he scolded, shaking the sleeping girl by the shoulder. She put up a feeble hand, brushed futilely at his fingers, turned her head on the pillow and relaxed into slumber.

Nathaniel noticed that the bed was made, the extra blanket folded neatly at the foot. He glanced back at Chiri. There was a smudge on her unrouged cheek—now and then she eschewed makeup completely just to show her friends that she was human, she said—and on the arm that she had thrown up over her dark, hit and miss bob.

Nathaniel felt a moment of softness for her. "Poor little donkey," he murmured. He stood and looked at her sleeping for a while, then turned, reached for the blanket and threw it over her feet. The studio was a bit chilly as the weather had turned unexpectedly cold for late spring.

A little later, over his coffee, he mused on the ways of women, particularly women of Chiri's sort. An inspection of the place had acquainted him with the reason for her deep sleep. Apparently she was dead tired. The studio had been scrubbed from end to end but in a way that would not disturb his work. Only the dust that gathers so quickly in the Village had been removed. Scattered papers were still scattered.

He felt warmly grateful and more than a little annoyed. Surely Chiri must know that she could gain nothing by slaving for him. Yet, on the other hand, he appreciated what she had done. Hired cleaning women made so much bother. Still he could not let her spend the night there simply because he was grateful to her. But she had looked so darned tired. It wouldn't be necessary to turn her out until he was ready to retire.

There was a pile of new novels on the table. Nathaniel turned his attention to them. He came to one that promised to absorb his interest and began to read. He read only occasionally, but when he did he liked to finish whatever it happened to be—novel or article.

He read on and on, forgetting both Chiri and time. But he did not reach the end before his lids had dropped many times, finally to settle down firmly in overpowering sleep. The book slid unnoticed to the floor.

He was awakened by the ringing of his telephone. He was half aware that it had been ringing for some time. The instrument was on a small stand near his bedroom door and before he could stir himself to answer it Chiri appeared, took the receiver off the hook and greeted the caller with a lazy "hello."

At first Nathaniel did not grasp the significance of what she was doing. Those who live in the Village are not given toward consideration of appearances. But his first thought naturally was of Virginia and then he realized in a flash that she would scarcely understand being answered by a feminine voice when she was calling him in the middle of the night.

He sprang up hastily. "Who is it?" he called.

"I think it is Miss Brewster," Chiri told him.
